

ABSTRACT

Yeni Ovianti

Social Support Role At Young Adult Woman Experiencing of Infertility. (Agoes Dariyo, Psi). Undergraduate program in Psychology. Universitas Tarumanagara. (99 pages+i-viii, R1-R4, Appdx 1-Appdx 15)

Infertilitas represent one of problem which is a lot of faced by young adult woman. Woman experiencing of infertilitas oftentimes less get social support. Through this research, writer study exhaustively hit social support given by family member (parents, husband, and family), close friend of relationship or evaluated from Taylor (2003) theory. According to Taylor, individual accepting social support obtain get three benefit that is: (a) the real aid from others; (b) the information which is good for; and (c) the emotional support. This research done using interview held in September 2007 until April 2008. From this research, we know that social support type given different for each person. beside that, benefit from social support accepted even also different for each person. Social role from husband proved to be an important social support to help the wife accept the reality.

Keyword : Infertility, young adult hood woman, social support.