

ABSTRACT

Wisanti

(THE CAUSE OF SEXUAL INTERCOURSE DISSATISFACTION ON CAREER WOMEN WHO ALSO BEEN MARRIED. Sandy Kartasasmita, M.Psi.; Program Studi S1 Psikologi Universitas Tarumanagara. 92 + P1-P4)

Women sexual intercourse satisfaction not only marked by orgasm but there also psychological aspects involved in that which make some women different to another and in time. Nowadays, women have many chances to fulfill the need of self-actualization by working as a career woman. For women who work and be a house wife or known as double role, they have more burden than women who only be a house wife. This kind of role and responsibility can impact to their sexual life beside another factors.

This research tries to find the causes of sexual intercourse dissatisfaction in women especially married women who also work. There are four subjects participated in this research. These four woman were having age ranged 40 until 50 years old, minimum S1 degree, minimum supervisor, minimum 10 years of marriage, and having minimum 1 children. This research started on February 13th until april 12th 2007. Based on research, it is found that sexual intercourse dissatisfaction in women especially married women who also work caused by fatigue and stress as immediate cause and affair by her partner as the other cause.