

ABSTRACT

Intan

The Role of Social Support Against Decision to Divorce Domestic Violence Victims. (Henny E. Wirawan, M.Hum., Psi., QIA). Psychology bachelor degree study program, Tarumanagara University. (73 pages, P1-P4, L1-L19).

Domestic violence ("Kekerasan dalam Rumah Tangga or KDRT" in Indonesian).

Violence according to Hyden (1999) defined as an act which inside it include act of kicking, hitting, threatening, effort to strangle, rape, etc. They can't leave their husband cause they still got many consideration such as negative thinking from other people to the subject, and children, so that social support is needed to change subject view which is all this time survive in the marriage. Social support could be derived from parents, other relatives, friends, social and contact community. Data mining done by interview method, since April 2009 until June 2010. Research result shows that the subject capable to leaving the husband after years in violence, after getting social support.

Keywords : Domestic Violence, Woman, Social Support.