

ABSTRACT

Johan

Relation between conformity with aggression behavior on soccer fans in Jakarta (M. Nisfianoor, M. Si., Psi.); Majoring in Psychology, Undergraduate Program, Tarumanagara University (54 pages, P1-P3, L1-L32).

This research's purpose is to know the correlation between conformity with aggression behavior on soccer fans in Jakarta. Conformity defines as adjustment form of someone in the society or group because individuals are encourage to follow the rules or values that already exist. Aggression behavior defines as behavior that have a physical or psychological consequences for a person. This research was conducted in Jakarta. The subject of this research are 154 person. This research performed quantitatively with questionnaire as the tool for data collection. The data then analyzed with the correlations spearman rho method, and was found that there is low negative correlation between conformity with aggression behavior on Indonesian soccer fans ($r = -0.295$, $\rho = 0.000 < 0.01$).

Keyword: Conformity, Aggression Behavior, Soccer Fans