

ABSTRACT

Yunita Amelia (705080082).

Forgiveness in Young Adulthood Woman that Abused by Her Father. (Henny E. Wirawan, M. Hum., Psi., QIA, CRMP); Undergraduate program, Tarumanagara University (79 Pages, R1-R2, Appdx 1-9).

Abuse is an action that consciously done in purpose to victim individual or group, verbally or physicaly (The Social Work Dictionary Barker, as cited in Huraerah, 2007). The aim of this research is to know about the process of forgiveness in young adulthood woman that abused by her father. Forgiveness is an attitude that the subject can accept what happened to them, decrease the anger, and act neutrally to people who victim them, as well as they try to build a positive feeling. Subject in this research are young adulthood woman in 20 – 30 years old. This research was done in five month, start from february untill June 2012. Qualitative method used in this research, with in depth interview. The result of this research are subject that verbally and physically abused need another people for motivating them to forgive their father. Instead, the subject who only has verbally abused need another people to bulid a positive feeling for their own self.

Keywords: Forgiveness, Physically Abuse, Verbally Abuse, Young Adulthood Woman