

ABSTRACTS

Windy Lestari (705100117)

Overview of Social Support for Late Adulthood that Suffering Tuberculosis; Dr Fransisca Iriani R. Dewi M.Si; S-1 Study Program of Psychology, the University Tarumanagara, (i-xiii; pages; 65 ; P1-P2; L1-L17)

Cronical disease is a disease that is deadlious and affect the person without a hope in his/her life. Tuberculosis Disease is biggest challenge for late adulthood to get the cure from social support. This research is to give abstact about social support for late adulthood that suffer tuberculosis disease. Social support is a assessment and affliction which is given by peoples around the individual that experience struggles so that the person feel to be loved, appreciated, and wandered by people around them. This research using qualitative method and sampling data using in depth interview. This research was held at Clinic and houses on Jabodetabek district. The research started from September to October 2014. The result of this research showed that three of the subjects that suffer tuberculosis disease got emotional support and companionship, they were more motivated to be cure also being respected and favored by the family, in contrary, elder that suffered tuberculosis disease which doesn't get social support from the family tend to blame his or her self unwanted by the family.

Key Word : Late Adulthood, Tuberculosis, Social Support